Eummary of the Condition of the Growing Crop and the Progress of Harventing Fast of the Rocky Mountains. CHICAGO, July 20 .- The Times tomerrow morning will publish reports of the condition of the growing crop and the progress of the harvest, as collected from all portions of the United States east of the Rocky mountains. The dispatches comprise reports from over nine undred counties. Of these reports the Times makes the following analysis: The wet weather of the past tvo months has resulted in an extraordinary growth of all kinds of grasses, consequently the hay crop will be large in all parts of the west, and as it has been very generally harvested and is therefore free from all danger of damage, there need be no fear of a scarcity of hay. Wheat has been harvested in the section lying south of the forty-fourth degree of latitude. In Wisconsin it is much above the average in quantity and quality. In Illinois and Indiana some damage has been done to the crops by rains, bugs and other causes, so that the yield will not probably exceed three-fourths of the average. In Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota and Iowa, the reports show that the erop will be largely in excess of last year. In the two first named States, the depredations of the grasshoppers have been comparatively insignificant, and unless some unlooked for calamity occurs the producers will realize a far greater return for their labor than ever before. In Kentucky, Michigan, Ohio, Missouri, and the east-ern States there is every prospect of a far better yield than heretofore, and the production will be far in excess of the consumption. The product in these States is represented as being much superior in quality to that of former years. It is notable that for the first time in twelve years the south will raise sufficient breadstuffs for home consumption. This will, of course, relieve the north of the necessity of shipping grain in that direction, and enable us to supply the deficiency in the European markets. Oats promise an extraordinary large yield. In some sections the heavy rains that have fallen recently have lodged the grain somewhat, and the chinchbug elsewhere has caused some damage, but there is every indication that the yield will be at least forty-five or fifty tushels to the acre, and in many sections much larger. Rye every indication that the supply will be ully equal to the demand. Corn is not not yet matured in the northwest. In crop has been harvested, and is more abundant than for many years. In Illi-nois, Iowa, Missouri, Onio and Indiana tue crop is backward, but unless frosts September, there is no reason to apprehend a short crop. In Minnesota, Wis-consic and Michigan the backwardness of the crop is such that there is little Pope of more than half a crop, but as at eleven o'clock in the forenoon of tose States raise but little corn the diminution of the crop there will have but little influence on the supply. Potatoes will yield a full crop in all sections. The Colorado bug is only seen for the most part in the eastern States. In the west it has disappeared, having been almost entirely exterminated by the heavy rains. Some complaints of its depredations come from points east of Ohio, but none from the west. The reports of the cotton crop are exceedingly favorable. The armyworm, so destructive to the plant, has appeared Informal Meeting Yesterday-Cotton Exchanges Represented-Distinguished Gentlemen Invised to Participate.

GREEN BRIAR, WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS. W. V., July 20.—An inform-al meeting was held here this afternoon by the delegates to the National cotton convention. President John Phelps, of the New Orleans cotton exchange, called the meeting to order, and stated that in consequence of the break-up on the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, and the detention of many delegates on their way to the convention, it would be impracticable to appoint a business committee in advance of the regular opening of the soci-ety. John S. Toof, of Memphis, read a list of the cotton exchanges that would be represented in the convention, by which it appears that since the last meeting the exchanges of shreveport, Nashville, Norfolk, and Selma have joined the association, and each of these are entitled to two delegates, according to the classification adopted last year. The following cotton exchanges will be represented in this year's convention: Mobile, Charleston, Savannah, New Orleans, Memphis, Baltimore, Buston, Selma, Montgomery, Norfolk, Augusta, Nashville, Wiland barley Fromise well. It will be remembered that a considerable number of artists in France, at the time mentioned, each gave a picture to be brought to this country and sold for the benefit of this city. The sale took place some time ago, and the amount realized was about thirty thousand dollars. The money has never been called for, and it

Revenue Frauds-Political, MILWAUKEE, July 20.-The grand ary of the United States court of Oshkosh to-day found three indictments against Samuel Lewis and Jacob and Max Rindskoff. The first is for omitting to make entries in the book, and making false entries and destroying books. The second is for felony in removing and failing to destroy stamps. The third is for a conspiracy to defraud the revenue. Other indictments have been found, but they are kept secret. Charles Francis Adams will deliver an address before the Northern Wisconsin fair at Oshkosh, September 28th. The meeting at the Academy of Music to-night to ratify the nominations made by the Republican State convention, was largely attended. There were speeches by Senator Howe, Ex Governor Washburn, Hon. Wm. E. Smith and others.

OBITUARY. STRICKLAND-CORNWELL PERRY STRICK-STRICKLAND—"ORNWELL PERRY STRICK-LAND, who died at his bone in Shelby county, Iennessee, on the 5th day of July, 1875, was own in Wake county, North Carolina, on the Sth February, 1813, and was the cidest son of Matthew and Blizabeth Strickland. During its early youth he manifested a love of study and high intellectual endowments. His ducation was confined to such advantages as were afforded by the academy of the heigh perhood, together with a select grammar chool and the aid of Mr. Westenbolm, a well ducated Englishman and thorough educator. school and the aid of Mr. Westenholm, a well educated Englishman and thorough educator, who was secured as his private instructor. By the diligent use of these advantages young Ferrica Land became at a very early age a finished English scholar, being familiar with the physical sciences and well grounded in the Lain and Greek languages. These advantages he utilized by teaching for a short time a day school, of which his younger brothers and sisters constituted mainly his pupils. His learning was of a character so critically accurate, that as feacher he was enabled to lay the foundation of a common school education in the minds of his five brothers, from which they advanced to sucrothers, from which they advanced to su merchants and in the learned profession About the time he reached his majority was employed by Richard Smith, of Rai North Carolina, as salesman in one of largest mercantile establishments in that largest mercantile escablishments in that city. Such was his diligence and apiness that his employer very soon entirused to him the control of his books and the business of his office as register of the county, which he held at the time. In loss or 1895, he visited North Mississippi, purchased a nome for his tather in the neighborhood of Sardis, Panola county. That dailghtful section, settled and now occupied by a class of the State. He then settled at Chilaborna, a small but then flourish. as severe scalp would, and suffered severe in girds on the body and right hip. There are no indications of internal injurice, but he suffers severely from nervous prostration. The sirects in the vicinity of his residence have been covered with tanbark, to deaden sound and give him rest. The total number injured, including Chief Megrue, was ten, all of whom are reported as doing well to night. The following are the most severely injured: James, Mi Comnack, rib broken and face cut; Daniel Cronn, arm broken and body bruised; H. Hambrock, arm broken and body bruised; H. Hambrock, arm broken and body bruised otherwise; the others were bruised or cut by the falling piricks or timbers. It is reported that one of the floors of the building was heavily overloaded with lithographic stones and presess, which caused the wall to give way.

that the balloon was carried over into the woodland district of Michigan, and safely landed there before the storm opened with its fury; that the landing was far remote from any telegraph station, and hence this continued silence. The Courier last evening sent to various telegraph stations in Michigan, asking for intelligence, but the only reply received up to two o'clock this morning has been "no balloon seen or heard from." General Stager, of the Western Union line, sent messages to all the offices where there was a possibility of receiving intelligence, but not a word was received in reply.

The great fear is that there was not sufficient gas in the balloon to make the long trip of over two hundred miles across the lake, or to have carried the balloon, if still in the air at the time of the squall, to a sufficient elevation to have avoided the dashing, driving wind neighbor. He lived to see his children grown, or in youthful man and womanhood, most of them settled in life, who assembled at his bedside during his last moments to receive his blessing and last injunction. When in the full consciousness of approaching dissolution, he expressed a triumphant faith in the Redeemer, and exhorted them to meet him in the paradise above, to which he was preceding them but for a short period, and so to keep their house in order, that when the Masser calls, like me, be anis to respond. "I am their house in order, that to respond, " I are calls, like me, be able to respond, " I are MISSISSIPPL.
